Hi and welcome!

Every day, I help people master their “out of control” lives... people who are overwhelmed, scattered and scrambling to keep up with the demands of their careers and their personal lives. Many have been diagnosed with ADHD, although I select my clients, not for their ADHD diagnosis, but for their untapped potential.

If you have outrageous dreams, brilliant ideas and bold plans, but are frustrated by procrastination, lack of focus and an inability to follow through, you may be a Creative Genius and qualify for one of my limited openings.

Do You Feel Success Eludes You At Every Turn?

You hang on to your job by your fingernails... or you scramble to find the next dead end with a steady paycheck. Your family is drifting away... they don't believe your claims that things will change. No matter how hard you work, you feel control slipping away.

Those bold dreams and big plans? Fallen by the wayside. Now you just want to keep your job and save your marriage. But as bad as things are, things can be better... a lot better.

Your brain works differently... it's challenging to focus on the mundane details of everyday. But that difference gives you an amazingly creative mind, capable of seeing things in new ways, making connections others miss.

Your Ideal Life Is Trapped Under the Debris of Unfinished Tasks, Broken Promises and Abandoned Dreams! It's time to...

Unleash YOUR Creative Genius!

You're a lot like Richard Branson, Pablo Picasso, Robin Williams and Albert Einstein. Just like you, their brains deliver an endless flow of ingenious, inventive, inspired and (often) wacky ideas. And when an idea excites them, just like you, they hyperfocus as they create new businesses, art or inventions that astound everyone.

You're a Creative Genius too. You just need to tap into that goldmine of brilliance. You will succeed once you embrace your strengths, pursue your passion wholeheartedly and realize that your "weaknesses" are just differences people don't understand.

Stop Struggling to Get Through the Day

It can be hard to believe you're a Creative Genius when you struggle just to get through the day. How would your life change if you could work when it was time to work, and you could relax when work was over? Would your relationships improve if you could deliver on your promises consistently?

You're not "lazy, crazy or stupid." You're just a Creative Genius who hasn't tapped into your strengths or had the chance to follow your passion.

Exclusive Program for Creative Geniuses... Like You

Working with my ADHD ~~guinea pig~~ husband and experts around the world, I've developed a training and coaching program that will help you unleash your Creative Genius. It's not a creativity program. You don't need help to be creative. It's not a time-management program, not in any traditional sense.

The Maximum Productivity Makeover for ADHD Adults Group Coaching Program will free your time... and your spirit... from the chains of "the way we do things." Once you tap into your strengths and pursue your passion, you'll be unstoppable (I know it, and you sense it too!)
