We've spaced out sessions over the summer to make sure you don't miss too many sessions without losing your momentum. We'll have a kick off meeting to get everyone familiar with each other on Thursday, March 24th at 7 pm ET.

Don't worry if you can't make a few sessions; they are recorded and you will receive the recording the next day.

You do need to invest some time between calls for "homework" to implement and benefit from what you learn. The great thing about that is that you'll have the time to do it. After all, you'll improve your productivity from the very first class!
